"BEFUDDLED," TAFT SAYS OF TRUMAN POLICY

Senator Attacks President's Program as Dominated by CIO.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1—Senator Robert A. Taft, bearing the encouragement of fellow Ohio Republicans for his party's presidential nomination, headed for a five-week Canadian vacation today after delivering a blistering attack on President Truman's foreign and domestic policies.

Sounding the keynote of a far-reaching speaking tour beginning in Colorado next month, Taft declared a big home-coming rally showed that Mr. Truman is following a befuddled foreign policy "all dominated by the dictates of the CIO," and has failed to cooperate with the Republican-controlled congress.

Nearly 1,300 Republicans, including some from neighboring states and one from far off Texas, gave Taft a rousing twelve tunes during the speech which was broadcast over 250 CBS radio stations.

Calls For G.O.P. President

Taft said the Republican party's domestic policies "will always be sabotaged and opposed by a Democratic executive administration." He added that the only way to do the job as it should be done" is also correct the present foreign policy is to elect a Republican president next year. He predicted the people "will do so."

Taft's jibes at the administration's foreign policy came as a surprise to some of his listeners, in view of the leadership for bipartisan cooperation on this front given by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) a possible rival in the 1948 national convention. However, none would comment for publication.

One Republican leader in congress said privately that Vandenberg feels as Taft does but just has not said as much openly.

Taft asserting he is "not happy about the country's foreign policy," said the United States, through agreements made by the late President Roosevelt at Tehran and Yalta and by Mr. Truman at Potsdam "practically abandoned all of the ideals for which the war was fought."

We created an impossible situation," he said, "in which freedom is suppressed throughout large sections of Europe and Asia.

Morgenthau Plan Hit

"In Germany our policy has been dominated by the harsh and impractical Morgenthau plan, even though the government pretended to repudiate it.

"Our German policy has wrecked the economy of Europe and now we are called upon for cash from our taxpayers to remedy the breakdown.

"The whole policy has created an impossible situation, which calls a strong executive policy can possibly even to alleviate. Certainly it is beyond the power of congress, which cannot initiate foreign policy.

Discussing the Marshall plan, Taft said amid applause that his party is interested in loans to enable foreign countries "to go to work and help themselves, but I believe those loans hereafter should be confined to actual goods, machinery and equipment necessary to enable the countries which receive them to restore their own productive ability."

"Certainly," he continued, "we must move cautiously and be sure that additional loans really furnish incentive to the foreign people involved to work harder to support themselves, and are not a burdensome on our own taxpayers.

To critics who contended the re-

Ohio Republicans View Taft's Speech As "Masterful Work"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1—Buckeye Republicans closed ranks today behind Sen Robert A. Taft for president in 1948.

Party leaders were agreed that the co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor bill did a "masterful job" in reviewing accomplishments of the 80th congress in a nationwide broadcast last night.

"The reaction will be very good," observed Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, national committeeman and Taft lieutenant.

"It was a masterful summary," commented Rep. John M. Vorys of Columbus.

"They'll take it and like it," said Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Taft addressed an enthusiastic throng of 1,272 Ohio Republican leaders and out-of-state guests in the Neil House. Banquet tables were removed to accommodate an overflow crowd.

Taft was introduced by Sen. John W. Bricker who said again that he would support him for the presidency.

"I can most heartily and sincerely commend him to you and to every other fellow countryman," said Bricker, the 1944 vice presidential candidate and former Ohio governor.

Congressmen Join In

Brazer, 14 of the 19 Ohio Republican congressmen endorsed Taft at a meeting and agreed to work for his election.

Illness or other engagements kept the other five from attending but Brown said the Ohio delegation "formed a team to work for Taft."

Herbert set the stage for Taft's talk with a speech by saying:

"The Republican party in Ohio is prepared to sponsor and champion the candidacy of Robert A. Taft for president of the United States in 1948."

He recalled that seven of 31 presidents were natives of Ohio —all of them Republicans—and made it clear that the Buckeye Mother of Presidents again was expecting.

The governor then reviewed accomplishments of the last general assembly and said a special session would be called if your-

Warring Nations To Avoid Use Of Atomic Bombs As They Did Gas in Last Tilt, General Says

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 1—General Jacob L. Devers, commanding general of the Army Ground Forces, said today that the atom bomb probably will never again be used in war.

Military leaders probably will avoid the bomb "as circumspectly in any future war as gas was in World War II," he told an audience at Newark airport as part of ceremonies marking the 40th anniversary of the Army Air Forces.

General Devers said that if the atom bomb were used, an "atomic slugging match" would follow.

"Neither side could so achieve any substantial victory," he said. "Whether the atom bomb is used or not in future warfare, the "final decision could be effected only by surface forces," the ground forces commander said.

Sees Chance for Peace

He saw "every prospect that we can avoid war" when the United States has a "fly-to-fight" army.

General Devers announced: "In the near future, we will be able to fly a standard infantry division, with all its armament, to battle. Our infantry battalions, with their artillery, are already airtransportable. When ... ordnance and air forces developments culminate in a heavy, airportable tank, we can fly standard infantry regiments to the attack. When engineer and air forces developments produce heavy engineer equipment which is airportable, we can fly a standard infantry division to war."

"When we have an army which can fly to fight, and an air force that can fly it, there is every prospect that we can avoid war, and make the peace permanent," Devers said. "The guarantee of sure, swift retribution will certainly deter any would-be aggressor."

The general said it was "improbable" that any future aggressor would attack until he held weapons equal to his intended victim's. Only the United States has yet disclosed possession of a workable atom bomb, although other nations are working on them.

Sees Three Dangers

Devers described three "dangers" from "too-vivid predictions of victory through air power."

A people may come to believe destruction through enemy air power inescapable and adopt a defeatist attitude, which "is hardly in keeping with our American heritage, but it exists."

A feeling of false security behind the atom bomb may develop.

Or air power may be developed to the neglect of land and sea power.

Devers expressed regret that "radical demobilization has so diminished it (the air forces) in size that it is now the world's most powerful force only in terms of technical superiority and know-how."

"Autonomy for the air forces will not mean much if we stint on research and development on planes, and on trained men to fly and maintain them," he added.

MARION JOINS IN OBSERVANCE

Planes Scheduled Over City as Part of Local Tribute to Army Air Force.

Marion today is joining in nationwide observance of the 40th anniversary of the Army Air Force.

Several displays of air equipment including captured parts of German and Japanese air equipment are in downtown stores.

Between 1 and 2 p. m. today several B-29s were scheduled to fly over the city from Wright Field, Dayton. An hour later a squadron of planes was due to spread over the city from Lockbourne Air Base, composed of the 166th Squadron with Lt Colonel Albert Roby in command. The squadron was to include several AT-6's A-26's and C-47's. After 4 this afternoon a fighter squadron made up of P-51's was schedule to follow.

Ex-Fliers To Register

Beginning at 6 a registration booth will be setup on the courthouse lawn for former members of the Army Air Force. The purpose of the registration is to put all local Airmen on the roster of the 11th Air Force so they may be on the mailing list to receive all announcements on modern equipment from the headquarters in Harrisburg, Pa. The booth will be manned by members of the Air Force association and the Marion recruiting station.

In the evening a dance will be held at the G.I. Post American Legion hall on East Center street. The program will also include motion pictures of the latest air force equipment.

Worldwide Observance

The Air Force called on its flying men all over the world to smash records, demonstrate flying skill, open bases to the public and make speeches at dinners and luncheons.

The famous B-29 "Dream Boat," already the holder of numerous long distance records, added one more to celebrate the day by flying 10,000 kilometers (6,214 miles) in 22 hours 27 minutes for an average speed of 277 miles an hour. The Dream Boat's course yesterday was two round trips between Patterson Field, near Dayton, O., and Benson, Ariz. A French plane set the previous record of 193.6 miles an hour in 1939.

Seven B-29's were due in from Tokyo on a one-stop 7,000-mile flight scheduled to end about noon at nearby Andrews field, headquarters of the Strategic Air Command.

Another flight of 30 B-29's was due back from Germany after a routine training mission. And a third group of the superfortresses

Seven Superforts End Record Mass Flight

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—Seven B-29 Superfortresses with 160 persons aboard flew over downtown Washington at noon today, and headed for nearby Andrews field and the finish of a one-stop 7,000-mile flight from Tokyo. The planes had spent 31 hours 24 minutes in the air.

The arrival was timed with slide rule precision, the big bombers having made a rendezvous at 10:32 a. m. over Martinsburg, W. Va., with 23 P-80 Shooting Star jet fighters which escorted them on the final leg to Washington.

Air force officials described the trip as the "longest and fastest mass flight of bombers ever attempted."

The flight was one of the major features of a world-wide observance of the 40th anniversary of the Air Force, which a week ago was accorded equal status with the ground and naval forces by enactment of the military unification law.

Eight Superforts took off from Tokyo at 1:09 a. m. yesterday. One dropped out after a three-hour stop at Elmendorf field, Anchorage, Alaska, for refueling.

FORD TO WAIVE LAW PROVISION

Agrees To Ignore Protection Under Taft-Hartley Bill To Avoid Strike.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 1 — The Ford Motor Co., threatened by a strike of its 107,000 CIO production workers, offered conditionally today to waive the Taft-Hartley labor law's court protection against union contract violators.

Ford's proposal, delivered personally by Henry Ford II, company president, to CIO Chief Philip Murray, was being weighed on the eve of a strike verdict by the CIO's United Auto Workers.

The UAW-CIO international executive board [illegible] tomorrow to consider its Ford department's resolution to call a strike in the vast Ford automotive factory system.

Word of Ford's offer, which was based on a series of company-described "good faith conditions," came from a surprise meeting which the young industrial executive had with Murray in New York City yesterday, arranged at Ford's own request.

Already Strike-Beset

Ford made the offer at a time when the auto industry already was beset with strikes and layoffs idling approximately 40,000 Michigan workers.

Largely, this idleness was attributed to a week-long walkout of 7,000 Murray Corp of America Workers in a demand for contract protection against the "union liability" provision of the Taft-Hartley law. Murray Corp supplies parts to the industry.

The same UAW-CIO demand on Ford was refused bluntly, but Ford, acknowledging a "critical situation," offered a compromise.

Won't Bring Suit

This was in the form of a company pledge not to bring suit against the union for damages arising out of "illegal strikes" provided that:

▶The union has not "inspired or authorized" such a strike.

▶The union agrees "promptly to denounce publicly" any illegal strike.

▶The union and its "officers or agents" agree to use "prompt and honest effort" to prevent or end such a strike.

▶The impartial umpire (assigned by contract) shall be "final judge" whether the union has taken "these reasonable steps" relative to such strikes.

The Taft-Hartley law gives an employer the right to sue a union for damages in event of a contract violation. Under a no-strike contract a union could be brought into court for alleged violation if it caused or permitted a strike.

Bricker Receives Two Threatening Telephone Calls

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1—Police disclosed today that Senator John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) had received two threatening telephone calls yesterday and that as a result extraordinary precautions were taken to guard him at the Republican rally here last night.

One of the telephone calls, which police said they believed were made by "cranks," was made to the Bricker home in suburban Upper Arlington a few hours before the senator was to take part in a statewide dinner honoring Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio). The call was taken by the senator's mother-in-law, Mrs. Maud A. Day, who reported that the caller said:

"This time we're going to get him."

Three weeks ago Senator Bricker was fired upon in Washington by a former capitol policeman.

The other telephone call was made to Bricker's law office in the downtown Leveque - Lincoln towers building.

A squad of detectives surrounded Bricker as he appeared at the Neil House for the dinner last night, and at the conclusion, he was escorted out a rear door by the officers.

A thorough search also was made of the grounds of the Bricker residence in Tremont road in Upper Arlington.

Bricker did not appear unnerved by the telephone calls, persons who attended the dinner reported. He sat near the speaker's platform of a table, and introduced Senator Taft before the latter's address.

Police disclosed that as a "precaution" [illegible]

GM Increases Price of All Cars 2 to 6 Per Cent

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 1 — General Motors Corp. today announced a two to six per cent increase in the list prices of all passenger cars effective immediately.

"Price adjustments on specific models and body styles will be established individually by the divisions involved," the announcement said.

Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet passenger cars were affected.

President C. E. Wilson said the company's first general price boost since last November was necessitated because "increased costs of both labor and materials are now too great for General Motors to possibly absorb through improved processing and [illegible] better machines and [illegible] any potential increase."

He cited what he termed a 12 per cent increase in labor costs because of April's wage agreement with the CIO United Auto Workers, as well as rising costs of steel, pig iron and other materials.

Suspect In John Williams Attack Still Held.

City police are continuing their investigation today of the man arrested as a suspect in the armed robbery and slugging of John Williams, 36, of 132 West Columbia street, early yesterday. Chief William E. Marks reported this morning.

To date no charges have been filed but Chief Marks said he expected to contact Williams today to see if identification could be made.

Williams was released from City hospital last evening and his condition today was reported to be "fairly good" by the attending physician. He sustained a head gash when slugged with the robber's revolver and was suffering from nervous shock.

The armed robbery by a masked man took place on the steps of the Williams residence shortly after 4 a. m. yesterday when the victim returned from a downtown restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams said they had recognized the assailant from his voice, and the former said he had a glimpse of the man's face when he bent over him and the handkerchief billowed out leaving the features exposed for an instant.

General Reveals President's Son Caused Decision of Air Experts To Be Revised.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Echols testified today that Elliott Roosevelt picked a Howard Hughes' plane as the best available for wartime photo-reconnaissance work after the Air Force high command turned it down in 1943.

Echols, wartime chief of the Air Corps Material Command, told the senate war investigating committee that the son of the late President Roosevelt in effect reversed the decision of the Air Corps' best experts.

The general agreed that if the plane could do a claimed 483 miles an hour it then would have been the Air Corps' fastest plane of the type.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) commented that the committee has been unable to find any Air Corps records dealing with the experimental plane between July, 1942 and the end of June, 1943.

Made Report

Echols said there probably were none because Hughes was conducting his own development. He added that late in June 1943 he made a report on performance and possible production of the Hughes plane at the request of General H. H. Arnold, the commanding general of the Air Forces.

While the general was testifying, committee aides told reporters that young Roosevelt has been scheduled to testify before the committee on Monday.

The committee already has received testimony behind closed doors [illegible] one of the Army officers [illegible] tained in behalf of Hughes.

The plane which [illegible] favored was a type of two-place fighter which it was proposed to convert into a photo-reconnaissance ship. It then was known as the D-5 but subsequently has been designated as the F-11.

Arnold Ordered Clamp-Down

Echols testified that on Aug. 26, 1943, shortly before Roosevelt's return, General Arnold had directed that no further action be taken to encourage Hughes in his efforts to sell his plane to the Army.

This command was communicated to the Wright Field experimental headquarters by Brig. Gen. B. W. Chidlaw, Echols' assistant, documents showed. It followed lengthy discussions with Hughes and his representatives about the plane and a predecessor ship, both built of plywood.

"Normally that would end the matter, would it not?" asked Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the subcommittee.

"Normally, yes," Echols replied.

He recounted, however, that when Roosevelt came home from Europe he, Echols, was told to cooperate with the President's son.

As the inquiry into Hughes' $40,000,000 wartime plane contracts went through its fifth day, there were published reports that Hughes will ask the justice department to investigate the "relationship of Senator Owen Brewster (R-Maine), chairman of the full committee, and Pan-American Airways.

This brought from Brewster an invitation for Hughes to "dispose this matter under oath."

Probe Income Returns

The new cross-country exchange of words came as the senate war investigating committee armed itself with income tax data for an inquiry into entertainment expenses of Hughes in connection with wartime plane-building contracts.

The latest Hughes-Brewster any change was in this form:

The Lee Anglee examiner quoted Hughes as announcing he will ask the justice department investigation of Brewster and Pan-American.

"The basis of my demand will be substantially on charges I have already made," Hughes was quoted.

Earlier this week, Hughes demanded in a statement that Brewster say if it were not true that the Maine senator had offered to call off the inquiry into wartime plane contracts if the Hollywood film producer would agree to a merger of Trans World Airlines, which he largely owns, with Pan-American.

Middies Treated Like Men, not Pistons, Now

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 1—Midshipmen at the U. S. Naval academy are being treated less like pistons and more like men these days.

The century-old center of American naval training is streamlining its teaching program and giving its midshipmen more freedom in order to prepare Uncle Sam's future fleet officers for the broader demands of the post-war world.

Hal Boyle

The old tradition of rigid discipline that practically ordered every moment of a midshipman's life from the day he entered the academy until the day he graduated goes back many decades.

It developed slowly from the founding period in 1845, when cadets were boisterous and difficult to control. For evening fun then they often grabbed up pokers and engaged in pitched battles with the Annapolis citizenry. Once they hanged a mathematics teacher in effigy and escaped court martial for insulting a superior officer only by pointing out that he was a civilian. So congress made him an officer and raised his pay $400 a year.

The cadets of that day took their shore education so lightly that only 269 of the first 1,209 admitted ever graduated.

But the thumb of authority gradually came down more heavily as standards were raised. Some critics complained that the martinet-like discipline tended to iron out the individuality and initiative the midshipmen would need if they ever commanded ships in battle. They said there had developed too big a gap between the rigid and precision-regulated life the midshipmen led in the academy and the more flexible human give-and-take life that awaited them in their future careers.

Rear Admiral James L. Holloway Jr., present academy superintendent, wants to close that gap. A forward-looking educator, he also is placing new emphasis in the Annapolis curriculum on the humanities—such as economics and government—in the belief that the midshipmen should study technical specialties in the Navy postgraduate school.

Still Point for Sea

"But of course the curriculum is still pointed toward a sea career," a senior officer pointed out.

The importance of air combat is also being increasingly stressed, and one officer said:

"It's not that we plan to train pilots here, but they must be thoroughly indoctrinated in the importance of air as a second ocean. Air must be in their soul just as the sea was in the soul of the old salt water sailor."

Old line admirals need have no fear that the midshipmen are being coddled. The normal high academy discipline is being maintained, but Holloway feels that midshipmen will develop qualities of leadership better if given more personal responsibility in their conduct.

Get More Leaves

One custom that has been abandoned is that of marching silently to classes in drill step formation to the beating of a drum. The Middies are also being allowed more weekend leaves, enabling them to keep in closer touch with civilian life.

Another innovation that has worked out well is a closer linking up with their future fellow officers of the Army, the cadets at West Point.

Midshipmen and cadets spend two weeks each summer in joint amphibious landings, and also each midshipman in his final year now spends a weekend at West Point, and each graduating cadet comes to Annapolis for a similar stay.

"It's really helped morale," smiled one commander. "Two of the Army cadets have already married the daughters of Naval officers here."

BRITAIN TELLS U.S. SHE MUST MAKE CUT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug 1—Britain, because of her belt-tightening economic plight, has told the United States informally she must make sharp new cuts in her world stability commitments.

The reason: To stretch for use at home a fast-dwindling supply of American dollars.

Diplomatic authorities said today the informal talks have been going on for several days, centering primarily on revising the Anglo-American agreement for Germany's occupation.

Under terms of that agreement signed last December, the two countries merged their occupation zones for economic purposes with costs split on a fifty-fifty basis.

But, because many of the basic needs for German occupation fall in a category of supplies in which Britain herself is deficient, the British have been forced to turn to the United States for the purchases, paying for their part of the load in dollars.

British officials here insist that there has been no formal request as yet for a change in the fifty-fifty formula.

BE SURE
of Fuel Oil for Next Winter
Our best advice: Don't install any oil burning equipment unless you have positive assurance of your full winter's oil requirements in advance. Get a written contract.

Why?
Next winter's Ohio demand for fuel oil for home heating, industrial uses, farms, and railroads will be up several hundred per cent over the last prewar year, 1941. For instance, even last winter the use of oil heat was more than double what it was in 1941.
There is no trouble today with crude oil. Refineries are producing above previous levels and can go higher. The pinch is in transportation of crude petroleum and petroleum products, especially in the middle western and north central states. Pipe lines, barges, tankers and tank cars are transporting petroleum at capacity levels. Steel and equipment shortages today are holding back increases in transportation capacity.
Current circumstances have already caused Sohio and other companies to limit their supplies of gasoline. Now, the safety and convenience of all concerned requires temporarily that the use of fuel oils be kept within bounds.

What Sohio is Doing
We are doing everything possible to assure our contracted home heating customers of their required Sohio-Heat for next winter.
1. Already, as a safeguard for these customers, we have ceased taking on new home oil heating commitments and have urged our independent distributors to do likewise.
2. Sohio has offered contracts to all previous regular customers for their next winter's requirements and is urging immediate acceptance of these contracts.
3. During this summer we are filling every customer's home storage tank to the brim.
4. Sohio has offered low cost arrangements to customers for increasing their home storage.
5. We have taken pains to fully inform dealers in oil burning equipment.
6. Considerable new Sohio fuel oil storage is being built.

Eroded and Once Dying Acres Being Nursed Back To Health

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 1—Millions of once productive acres, long left for dead or dying, now are being nursed back to health, an Associated Press survey shows.

The comeback of the wastelands is valued at millions of dollars a year and is taking place in cutover timberlands, strip-mined coal producing areas, overgrazed grasslands and pastures, sand dune areas and overcropped regions.

From New England, the Middle west and the far west come examples of how local residents and various local, state, and federal governmental agencies have combined forces to recapture lost acres. Some of the land is going into forests for lumber and paper, some into grass for cattle.

F. A. Fisher, Milwaukee, Wis., directed land utilization projects for the U. S. Soil conservation service in eight north central states, declares there are 46,000,000 acres of submarginal land now in cultivation throughout the nation which should be retired to other uses, such as range, timber, wildlife sanctuaries, and recreational facilities.

This is in addition to the 282,000,000 acres estimated by the U. S. department of agriculture as already lost through wind and water erosion.

Sees End of Shortages

Paul O. Rudolph, U. S. forester at St. Paul, Minn., declared, "if all the land needing reforestation were planted on a sustained yield management plan, paper and lumber shortages would vanish." (Such a plan means taking out trees as they ripen and replanting a young tree for each old one removed.)

Reforestation experts claim the future of the newsprint, paper, and lumber industries in the middle west lies in the drive to plant 12,500,000 acres of trees in Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. Wisconsin pulp mills now must bring in cordwood from Idaho and Oregon and also must import from Canada.

A fifth of Wisconsin's industrial workers are employed in pulp, paper, and lumber mills, but the $300,000,000 annual sales are in jeopardy because of the dwindling source of supply.

Typical of the new "plant to prosper" campaign taking place on the cutover timber areas of the three states is what is being done around Spooner, Wis. Three crawler-type tractors draw tree-planting machines which can prepare the earth and plant 15,000 trees a day.

County governments are looking to reforestation as a means of greater revenue and less expense. More than 150,000 acres in Washburn county, Wis., have been abandoned by former owners, but still are a tax roll expense. Enough isolated settlers remain here and there to require road and school upkeep. By relocating these families on better land, roads and schools both could be closed up. And by cleaning up the acreage, its weathered wood and stumpage can be sold and work given to county residents.

Indiana Reconverting

In Indiana some 45,000 acres of strip-mined land are being converted from waste to worth.

L. E. Sawyer, of the Indiana Coal Producers association, Terre Haute, with a membership of 20 companies, said the land is being given over to wildlife and recreational sanctuaries, timber, and grazing.

Indiana's coal production ranks sixth in the nation, and 55 per cent of it is done by the open cut method, Sawyer said. He estimated about 35,000 acres remain to be stripped.

The cost of revegetation of the stripped land and spoil banks left from the mining process runs from $18 to $35 an acre, Sawyer said.

"There is not yet sufficient annual income to provide a basis for an accurate profit study, although there is a high potential income from early forest plantings," he said.

Sawyer estimated well over 20,000,000 trees have been planted in the reforestation by the mine companies. Under a law passed by the Indiana legislature, companies are required to use uniform planting procedures to replant each year areas equal to that mined over the previous year. Sawyer noted. In this way all mined-over land evenautlly will be revegetated.

NATION'S HIGHWAY DEATH TOLL DROPS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 1—Highway deaths throughout the country dropped nine per cent during the first six months this year, leaving the "traffic situation well-in hand," the national safety council reports.

The council said the outlook was "bright" despite a five per cent increase during June over last year. It said 27 out of 41 reporting sates have had less deaths this year. To date, there have been 14,480 deaths compared with 15,890 last year, it said.

Reports from 383 cities showed 177 had fewer deaths during the first half of 1947, while 80 reported no change. In 99 cities, there were no traffic deaths. The largest perfect-record city was Schenectady, N. Y., followed by Evanston, Ill., and Covington, Ky.

The increase in traffic deaths during June was "far from discouraging," the council said. Although June normally has more deaths than May, this year there was an eight per cent drop.

The council also noted that travel is on the upswing. It said if the June mileage increase keeps pace with the 11 per cent travel jump during the first five months, the June mileage death rate would be five per cent smaller than a year ago.

During June, 256 cities reported no deaths. The largest city with a no-death record was Hartford, Conn., followed by New Haven, Conn., and Des Moines, (Ia).

BALL GAMES BOOST PARK ATTENDANCE

Four Draw 4,150, Reports for Last Week Show.

The city junior baseball league has boosted attendance at city parks considerably, Joseph Petrich, city recreation director, said in making his report of park attendance for last week.

Total attendance at the four playgrounds was 4,150 last week. This was an increase of nearly 3,000 over the previous week. Weather was very good last week, which also helped total attendance to reach a summer's high.

An example of how the junior leagues are aiding park attendance can be drawn from the situation at Garfield park. Previously attendance there never went above 750, but last week it went to 1,088. It is one of the two playgrounds where the junior league holds games. McKinley park, the other having a baseball field, reported an attendance of 1,750 last week.

Silver street and Lincoln parks reported attendances of 771 and 550 respectively.

The ice cream social at Silver street attracted 100 persons.

100th Anniversary For Rock Run Church

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 1—The annual Homecoming day program at Rock Run Church of God, near Upper Sandusky, Sunday, will also mark the 100th anniversary of the church.

The Rev. Norman Fulk has been the pastor at Rock Run for the past year. He will be assisted Sunday by Rev. Homer Wagner, of Rising Sun, a former pastor of Rock Run who will deliver the morning sermon. Rev. Tennyson Guyer, of Celina, will be the guest speaker on the afternoon program. A basket dinner will be served at noon.

The church was organized in 1847 by Elder William Adams, meeting at first in the homes of members. A frame building was erected in 1861-62 on the southwest corner of the William Fernbaugh farm, three miles east of Upper Sandusky on the Nevada road.

In 1879 a brick church half a mile south, formerly used by a United Brethren congregation, was purchased and is still being used. In 1936 the bell which had belonged to the Star Bethel Church of God, near Wharton, was presented to the Rock Run church by the Wharton Church of God. The bell was dedicated, Aug. 2, 1936.

900 Railroads Accused Of Overcharging U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—Attorney General Clark in a new complaint yesterday accused more than 900 railroads of collecting "unjust and unreasonable" rates on wartime shipments of steel airplane landing mats.

The action was filed with the interstate commerce commission. The government is asking reparation for alleged overcharges on the landing mats moved from eastern shipping points to Pacific ports between Jan 1, 1942 and June 30, 1946.

The justice department announcement said "thousands of carloads" of landing mats were involved. The petition to ICC states the exact amount of money sought to be recovered is "not presently ascertainable."

The complaint is another in a series which Clark has made before the ICC concerning wartime freight charges.

Hughes Must Smash OUR Plane To Prove He Designed It Right

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—I have lost interest in Howard Hughes' dancing girls. I just want my West Coast operative to drop by Senor Huges' dry-dock and see if the biggest airplane in the world actually exists. I want him to touch it and make sure it's not a mere legal mistake, maybe. Boy!

Gather round, taxpayers, for what looks like the nearest thing to a ride we may get in our eight-motored, 700-passenger plywood behemoth of the air. Remember? We paid Hughes $18,000,000 to build three of these over-sized flying machines. Then we decided—through our spokesmen in the government—to slip him the $18,000,000 for just one. We skipped the other two.

Cost $21,115,970

We actually paid $21,115,970 for our airplane. We own it. We have accepted delivery, but we can't use it. The civil aeronautics administration says it won't allow it to fly for civilian operation until it has been tested. Really tested. Busted to smithereens on purpose to test it part by part.

"And then there will be no plane," testified CAA Deputy Administrator C. I. Stanton. So nobody can fly it, except Hughes, on test authorization. And that isn't all.

In credulous was the expression on the faces in the senate caucus room when Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, the chief investigator, read the terms of the newest contract between Hughes and us, the taxpayers, by way of the defense plant corporation.

So long as our airplane doesn't fly, and if there actually is an airplane and not some smashed lumber, it is ours to admire.

Can Lease Plane

The moment that Hughes decides to test it (listen closely, taxpayers), then he has the right to lease it for $37,500 a month. Plus $6.50 for every hour that each of the mighty motors roars.

"Of course," said H. R. Edwards, the elderly government engineer who spent four years watching our plane being built, "he doesn't actually pay any money under this lease."

"No?" asked Sen. Ferguson.

"Oh, no sir," replied Edwards. "The contract calls for him to rent the plane at this price until he has used up the $1,000,000 of his own money he has spent on it."

"And that'll take about four years?" the senator inquired.

"Four years after he takes it up for its first test," Edwards said.

It turned out further that Hughes can sublease our airplane to anybody he pleases providing somebody wants to rent the biggest airship in the world which the CAA won't permit to be used for commercial purposes. If it doesn't get busted in the meantime we can have our airplane back for our own use sometime in 1951. If we still want it, for busting-up purposes, that is.

It's our airplane, anyhow, until Hughes proves that it will fly. Then it's his, if he wants it, until the bookkeepers calculate he's had $2,000,000 worth of use from it. Only how can he use it, or us either, if he's got to smash it to prove that he built it right? That's the $21,000,000 question.

Mississippi became a territory in 1798.

AGED COUPLE ON FIRST AIR RIDE — About to takeoff on their first plane ride, blind Olaf Anderson, 83, and his wife, Augusta, 84, who is deaf, leave Los Angeles for their old home in Stockholm, Sweden. They have been residing in the United States for the past 24 years.

FIRE HITS HARDIN COUNTY FARM, LARGE BARN BURNS

Charles Musson Loses 2nd Barn in 3 Years.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug. 1—Fire said to have originated from spontaneous combustion, destroyed a 40 by 60 foot barn and a 20 by 60 foot chicken house on the Charles Musson farm, six miles southwest of Forest, in Blanchard township Wednesday evening.

The Forest Volunteer Fire department made its first run and arrived in time to save the farm residence where the roof was blazing in several places. The run was made with the big new pumper truck.

The wind was in the southwest and the chicken house was directly in the path of the flames which swept on towards the house.

Destroyed with the barn was the season's crop of hay, together with a wagon and other items of farm equipment. Mr. Musson was unable to estimate his loss. He believes that some chickens perished when the house burned.

Forest firemen, in addition to saving the residence from destruction, saved another poultry house east of the destroyed structure and saved an old shed.

Fire Chief Morris Burk says the new Forest truck has a pumping capacity of 600 gallons per minute and carries a portable 300 gallon per minute auxiliary pump. He was well pleased with the work of the new truck at the Musson farm.

Mr. Musson said the barn was only three years old, being erected to replace one destroyed by fire in 1944.

Springfield Disbarment Proceedings Postponed

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 1 — Arguments on final briefs in disbarment proceedings against Jerome A. Nevius, 36-year-old former Clark county prosecutor, will be heard Aug. 21 when the case will be resumed after a recess ordered yesterday.

Counsel for Nevius, now serving one to 10 years in Ohio penitentiary for accepting bribes, rested the case after calling six character witnesses in an attempt to save his legal career in the face of charges of moral turpitude, misconduct and unprofessional conduct in office.

The case, brought by the Clark County Bar association is being heard by presiding Judge H. M. Rankin of Washington C. H., Judge Clarence U. Ahl of Bucyrus, and Judge George W. McDowell of Hillsboro.

Nevius took his conviction to the U. S. supreme court, but failed to gain a reversal.

Bible-Minded Boss Sees Light on Pay Raises, Unionization

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 1 — Quincy Beltram, accused by union officials of telling his employes it was "a sin" to ask for wage increases and that such raises could be given only when he received "messages from the Lord," agreed today to permit unionization of his 17-man factory.

Beltram, appearing before the New Jersey state mediation board on protest of the United Steelworkers (CIO), admitted yesterday that he had dismissed 11 employes because of union activity but said it was merely the dictates of the Bible.

Beltram, who operates the International Edge Tool Co. and conducts Bible classes for his employes on company time, said he had acted in accordance with the Biblical quotation: "Cast out the scorner and the strife shall cease."

Union pickets who paraded in front of the factory yesterday carried placards countering the Bible-quoting manufacturer with a union-selected Biblical quotation:

"Masters give unto your workers that which is just and equal, Col. 4:1."

Beltram told the mediation board he had informed the 11 men "that if they wanted to bring in the union I didn't want them working for me" but further study of the Bible convinced him now, he said, that he had acted without sufficient reflection. He said he would have "refrained" from the wholesale dismissals if he had it to do over.

If the union convinced him that it was "orderly" and would not try to dictate how his business should be run, he said he might be more receptive. The mediation board gathered 15 of his 17 employes last night for an immediate election, and nine voted in favor and six in opposition.

Baltram said this morning he would give unionization a chance "until I hear further from the Lord."

My love for her will still keep green and never fade away.

Air Force Day

THE AIR FORCE has come of age. Today, Air Force day, marking the 40th anniversary of the Army air force, takes on special significance, for the armed forces unification bill gives air power equal status with sea and land power.

"Air power is peace power" is the theme of this year's observance. An economy-minded congress realized the truth of this slogan when it substantially increased the air force's original appropriation to allow for increased experimentation and new plane construction.

The air force has come a long way since 1925, when General Billy Mitchell first urged a single national defense establishment with a separate air force. It was a long time before the wisdom of Mitchell's recommendations was appreciated, but by 1941 the strategic importance of air power had been demonstrated by the luftwaffe, and by the RAF's gallant defense of England.

The air force stands today as one of the nation's three defense arms. Staffed with well-trained airmen in the latest planes, it can indeed serve as a force for peace.

Straight Talk from Taft

THE NEWS in Senator Taft's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination is in the terms on which he wants it.

He will go after the nomination as the Republican strong man in congress—the ablest congressional leader in a political generation, the nation's foremost spokesman for a deliberative form of government and the most influential individual in American public affairs, except President Truman, who derives his influence from the office he holds.

Senator Taft has distinguished himself as a straight-talker. In the straight-talking he has done in his first frank statement of intent about the presidency, these are the high spots:

He will go before the Republican convention and will seek delegates in the meantime as an advocate of a strong sense of party responsibility. He is tired of coalition government a la Democrats, New Dealers, radicals and lunatic fringers.

He will fight all factions that reject the principle of legislative deliberation—factions ranging from known enemies of the United States to fuzz-heads who can't comprehend that the nation is endangered by persons trying to undermine congress.

He will ask for consideration as presidential timber because he thinks government costs too much, that 30 per cent of the people's income for taxes is too much, and that the United States has come to the end of the free-spending trail.

He will preach states' rights, reduced power for federal executive agencies, equitable control of minorities, including labor unions, and health within existing patterns of federal-state relationships.

He will reserve the right to doubt the consequences of the Truman administration's foreign policy and the consequences of the wartime improvisations rigged up by Franklin D Roosevelt. But because he believes in constitutional procedure, he will be true to his conviction that foreign policy is primarily an executive responsibility; he will do no public sniping, unless an emergency calls for congressional intervention.

He will support reasonable aid for other governments, but not at the expense of impoverishing the United States, or of debasing the recipients of American aid by requiring no self-reliance.

Finally, he will do everything he can to disenchant the gullible about the party in power—the party of the Bilbos, the New York reds, the Kansas City vote defrauders, the New Dealers, CIO'ers, left-wingers, big-city-machine heelers etc.

These are the only promises Senator Taft is making. They aren't sensational in themselves, but in their context they are the biggest political news of the summer of 1947. Because their context is that of an Ohioan who has given Washington an idea what congress would be like if all congressmen knew as much about their jobs and worked as hard at government as Robert A. Taft has been working.

Senator Bricker's decision, as Ohio's other favorite son, to step aside so the country can get an unobstructed view of Bob Taft as a Republican presidential possibility reflects the way all his friends feel. Whether the Ohioan gets the nomination, or whether it goes to someone else, Ohio has produced in Senator Taft a real champion of common sense and straight-talking in government.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

G.O.P. Unity Intact as Congress Goes Into Recess.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—The Republicans brought themselves out of their first new leadership session of congress in greater unity than any political party has achieved since long before the New Deal. Defections generally drew only three of their senators.

This was accomplished by a peculiar inner system of organization. Normally steering committees are bossed by one or two men, but the Republicans made theirs truly representative of the party. For instance, in the House Speaker Martin was boss, but he worked closely with Floor Leader Halleck (which is not unusual), and they both cooperated genuinely with a steering committee, which made many decisions to which both Martin and Halleck were opposed. This is unusual. In the Senate, the Republicans had a policy committee headed by Senator Taft, which functioned a little less as a unit, but held frequent meetings in which freshmen senators were given full representation for the first time.

Out of this system of operation from the grass roots up, instead of from a top leadership down (as Mr. Roosevelt did), came the dominant party characteristic of their first session.

Operating System

Now this guiding committee-leadership had an operating system which was kept completely under cover. They had a two-pronged base policy from the start. They strove (A) to keep down the amount of legislation, selecting only the bare essentials for beginning a new policy era for the country, and (B) to get away from emergency and "must" legislation into which Mr. Roosevelt trapped them with so much hasty action, preventing them from going to the bottom of things studiously. (Their delay on the union reform bill was deliberate.) Nothing was said about this yardstick. They kept the Democrats from knowing their formula. But they feel rather good now about the way it worked out.

They had some failures, conspicuously on economy. This has been advertised. The house Republicans wanted to cut $6 billion, the senate $4½ billion, and all they both got was a debatable cut of $2.75 billion. The trouble on this was that after the house really slashed appropriations, the pressure groups turned on the steam and the senate had to put many back. When the house cut further flood control (we have spent billions already for this), the Mississippi Valley basin and the Missouri basin got together even with Pennsylvania, and their combined pressure on the senators was too much to withstand. The western states did the same thing against cuts in reclamation; the farm organizations with agricultural appropriations, although agriculture is in its greatest year.

Combined local state pressure groups thus prevented important economies in expenditures which the New Dealers had been building up through the years (logrolling is what this formerly was called).

Experts Named

None of the Republicans, even the logrollers, were genuinely satisfied with this failure of economy, so a committee was appointed of men who know government, like Herbert Hoover and Joseph P. Kennedy, (men who could operate beyond these pressures) to go through government during the recess, and tell the next congress which inefficient, wasteful and purely political costs can be cut. This committee is in a position to furnish the necessary objective impetus to overcome the political necessities of logrolling.

What is apt to hurt the Republicans more than the failure of economy is their series of exemptions granted in rent controls, while continuing control itself to next March 1. Their idea was to promote building, by allowing enough rent increases to make building profitable. If we get building out of it now, the Republican move will be considered a great success. If not much building develops, and gouging by landlords starts instead, the Republicans are quite likely to come back next winter to rescind their action and adopt rent control strongly.

Thus the two major defects within their program which were unsatisfactory to the decentralized committee leadership, are apt to prove temporary and may be corrected at the next session in January.

And Every Knock's

An Installment Man

Effective Nov. 1, all restrictions on credit buying will be lifted.

That's a break for husbands. It could have been done in time for the August fur sales.

Under current regulations, you can't even buy a used car without paying one-third down . . . . and who's got that kind of money?

But after November first, there'll be a return of that typically American phenomenon, the dollar-down and eyetooth-a-month automobile.

And once again the U. S. will be known around the world as the land of the high living standard and the low down-payment.

The Russians have a collective economy and ours is a collecting one. In no other nation on earth do the yacht yards advertise: "Just Bring An Honest Face."

Yes sir, seven out of ten Americans may not understand the Marshall plan, but they all know about the installment one.

G. O. P. Solidarity in Congress

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—Summaries and comments on the work of congress since it closed last week have been comprehensive. One point, however, has escaped attention, so far as this writer has seen. It is the remarkable solidarity of the party in control.

There were two measures which might tenably be looked upon as the most important affirmation of major national policy made by this congress. Certainly they were the ones about which there was most controversy. These were the labor bill and the tax bill.

On each of these measures there were in the senate two roll-calls, one on passage of the measure, one on the President's veto. Examination of these four roll calls reveals a solidarity on the part of the Republican majority for which it would be difficult to find a precedent, in either party or in recent history.

On passage of the tax bill, two Republican senators departed from the party's position. They were Langer of North Dakota and Morse of Oregon. On the roll call upon overriding the President's veto, the original two were joined by a third, Aiken of Vermont.

On passage of the labor bill, the Republican senators dissenting from the party's position were three:: Langer of North Dakota Malone of Nevada and Morse of Oregon. On overriding the President's veto, the same three Republicans were in dissent.

To sum this up, the largest number of Republican senators who voted against the party's position on any of the four roll calls, was three. The total who voted against the party's position on all the roll calls combined was four. Bearing in mind that the total number of Republican senators is 51, this slightness of dissent is extraordinary.

More So In House

In the house, the solidarity of the Republican majority was even more conspicuous. On the roll call upon passage of the first tax bill, the number of Republicans voting against party policy was three. In the roll call on overriding the President's veto of this bill, the Republicans voting against the party position were two. On the second tax bill, in both roll calls, on passage and on overriding the veto, the number of Republicans voting against the party's position was two. That figure is infinitesimal.

Here were four roll calls on what was in effect one tax bill, highly important and made highly controversial by the fact that President Truman opposed it. On all these roll calls, the largest number of Republicans who voted against the party's position was three. This is a total of house Republican membership of 244.

On the labor bill there were in the house two roll calls, one on passage and one on whether to override the President's veto. On the first the number of Republicans voting against the party's position was 12; on the second, it was 11.

This solidarity of the Republican majority in congress is the more remarkable because the party did not control the presidency. Solidarity in congress is easier to achieve when it is aided by leadership in the White House, by the prestige and power of patronage and other powers inherent in the presidency.

Able Leadership Evident

Among several deductions from the solidarity the Republicans achieved, an obvious one has to do with the quality of the leadership, Senator Taft and his aides in the senate, Speaker Martin and his aides in the house. In both cases it was a matter of decisions arrived at and the leadership conferred through constant conferences and consultation with the party members in the two branches. The quality that is supremely essential to the kind of leadership attained by Senator Taft and Speaker Martin and their respective aides, is confidence on the part of the membership of the two branches.

This confidence arises as a result of many years of association by the members with the men upon whom they confer leadership, observation of the men in action, intimate acquaintance with their personalities. In the case of Speaker Martin especially, it is assuring to know he so strongly has this confidence, considering that under a law recently passed he would automatically become president in the event that the office should become vacant before the end of President Truman's term.

Now U Know

With Burma in the news these days, it should be pointed out that U, as in U Saw, is a title, rather than part of the name. It rates somewhere between "honorable" and "elder" and is quite common among high ranking Burmese.

If U Saw is found guilty of complicity in the deaths of the seven Burmese council ministers, he probably will be just plain Saw.

PILING UP 1948 CAMPAIGN ISSUES

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Aug. 1, 1937.

Only one person survived the crash of an automobile through a heavy wire fence and a plunge into Indian lake which carried five companions to death in 12 feet of water.

More than 1,100 persons, mostly from Michigan, northern Ohio and Indiana, were here for a parade in honor of Alfred Lawson of Detroit, founder of the Direct Credits society and speaker for a program held at the Chautauqua pavilion.

Friends and relatives held a surprise birthday party in honor of Mrs. W. W. Jack at her home on Wilson avenue.

Guy Stoner was reelected superintendent of the Sunday school and John Butts was named president of the Brotherhood of the First United Brethren church.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cooper of Green Camp and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Vance of south of Waldo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bondley and daughter, Beverly Ann of Schenectady, N. Y., were visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Bondley of Monroe street and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ried of Lincoln avenue.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Aug. 1, 1927.

Clarence Chamberlain, New York-to-Germany flier landed at Curtis Field, N. Y. after demonstrating successfully the feasibility of taking off from a liner at sea. Chamberlain hopped off from the Leviathan below Fire Island at 8:14 a. m., making the 120-mile trip to the field in one hour and 16 minutes.

An audience which filled the pavilion almost to capacity attended the presentation of the comic opera, "The Mascot," given by the National Light Opera company as the eleventh number of the Marion Chautauqua.

The Round Table club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Lyman D. Jones on South Vine street. The affair was a farewell for the hostess, who was leaving to make her home in Ithaca, N. Y.

A report of the International convention of Rotary clubs held at Ostend, Belgium, where he represented the club, was given by Jesse H. Mason, Marion school superintendent, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the club at Hotel Marion.

A cloudburst which struck Marion flooded Center street in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania and Hocking Valley railroad crossings but the water did not completely cover the tracks.

Time for Us To Know

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE right of congress to inform itself by investigation cannot be questioned, for legislation would be impossible unless the legislative body possessed the means of informing itself directly on the subjects before it. This function of the congress is as important as the actual passage of laws. Without it, the congress would be completely dependent upon the executive for data and guidance. It would, indeed, become a rubber-stamp congress—a mere institution of ratification.

Various committees of congress are now engaged in such investigations. It is a curiosity of the liberal mind that whereas, socalled liberals favored similar congressional activities when conducted by Hugo Black, Robert La Follette Jr. and others who served their purposes, they now express chagrin and almost horror that the process continues but under different management. They are particularly annoyed that the name, Roosevelt, appears in unfavorable headlines so often

Some investigations raise old issues, as, for instance, the conduct of the war. This war was profligately conducted. Although on the diplomatic side, there is ample evidence that we had been moving toward war since 1937, and although it was obvious after Sept. 1, 1939, that we might become involved, Pearl Harbor found this country unprepared and undefended. It was necessary to move rapidly after Dec. 7. It was necessary to place the entire nation on a war footing. That cost money. It involved waste.

Essential Study

Congress needs to review everything that has occurred in relationship to the war so that from that experience it may have guidance for the future. If in the course of such studies, corruption, graft, trickery are uncovered, it is incidental to the task of understanding how the people's money was spent and how their welfare is to be safeguarded. If perchance some humor creep into this very serious business, no one need complain. Americans cannot help laughing when a fat man slips on a banana peel.

Crooks always take advantage of war situations. And congressional committees will discover some of them. Whether they will be prosecuted or adequately punished is not the function of congress but of the attorney general and the courts It is, however, a legitimate congressional function to get at the truth. For instance, it would seem as necessary to investigate UNRRA, AMG, and the military administration in Germany as the activities of Howard Hughes and Henry Kaiser. Sometimes such an investigation is courted by the investigated. It establishes a favorable record and safeguards the individual's reputation from slander and calumny. Sometimes such investigations produce precisely the changes in policy which the man on the spot has long advocated. Not all investigations produce unfavorable data.

It is essential that the functioning of the state department since 1933 be investigated. It is doubtful whether that can be done until a Republican president makes available documents which are now withheld. It is not merely a matter of policy but the conduct of policy.

Poorly Informed People

Who has been secretary of state since the fiasco of the London economic conference of 1933? The names are Hull, Stettinius, Byrnes and Marshall The actuality is that the president has used the department of state as a secret arm of his private office. The American people, in spite of press and radio, are a poorly informed people. They have not known since 1933 what has been done to their country in relationship to other countries, they have known little about how it was done and who did it.

The Marshall plan is a case in point. It is constantly being referred to as the Marshall plan. But what is the Marshall plan? Can you describe it? Can your senator with any precision? Can your congressman? Can the editor of the newspaper you read? Can I or any other columnist?

The answer is, no! The Marshall plan is secret diplomacy. It is some kind of a deal to give American money to European countries. How much? How? When? On what conditions? That is what a congressional investigating committee ought to find out for us.

Practically every proposition, from the decisions at the London economic conference, through lend-lease, Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and other conferences, has been handled in the blackest secrecy. It is time to know.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

"What Does Russia Want?"

(Being a speech by Dr. Elmer Twitchell before the Befuddlement Club of America in the Dazzle Room of Perplexity Hall).

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

My topic tonight is: What does Russia want? It is a question ringing across the hills and valleys of America, disrupting national unity, wrecking home life and driving millions of men, women and children nuts. What does Russia want? So far, ladies and gentlemen, we have been getting wrong answers.

What does Russia want? It can't be Turkey, the Balkans, western Europe or the Mediterranean? You don't get so stubborn and cantankerous over things like that. These things are too drab, too material, too impersonal. It must be something else. Is it not possible that Russia wants the New York Yankees. Or Hedy Lamarr?

What is Joe Stalin really after with so much determination and so little patience? Does he seek the 1948 rights to Rocky Graziano Sylvia Assault? Does he want the Ice Follies? I think it is obvious to all students of values and human desires that his objectives are not the ones commonly assumed. He could want all Europe, Africa, Alaska, China, Lindsay and Crosby's seats to Finian's Rainbow and a planned utopia and still not be as impossible as he is at the moment.

No, my friends, he must want something else. Can it be that Moscow is after a warm water outlet to Lana Turner? Has Moscow got designs on the eastern approaches to Myrna Loy?

"Is it possible, ladies and gentlemen, that there is something personal behind it all, and that Russian cussedness is due to some disappointment experienced within the Stalin Household? Has Mrs. Stalin been trying to get an electric dishwashing machine and failed? Is it possible that Joe Stalin himself has known the frustration of trying to get a room at the Grand Putnam at Saratoga during a racing month without ceding Poland, Finland and all claims to the Dardenelles?

I ask again, my friends, what does he want? No offer or proposal to date from anybody has satisfied him. Indeed it has annoyed him. Has he been unable to get a bid on Information Please? Does he feel that he has been ignored on our Break the Bank programs?

Has any statesman been smart enough to realize that the aspirations of Moscow have been fooling us all, and that what Russia really wants is a good five cent cigar, some of those good old fashioned dollar and a half white shirts, or a meat sandwich with meat in it?

Ah, my friends, has it occurred to anybody that Russia would be a different nation, take a different tact and be a warmer, kindlier state if she could get some WHITE WALL TIRES?

PRESIDENT TRUMAN walked into the senate and took his former seat for old time's sake the other day. He liked to remember away back when he was happy.

The Citizens Union of New York wants to bring back the old "home town touch" to New York. It emphasizes the value of the home town feeling. Well, off hand, we are not for it. Under the home-town touch we would know who was a heel and a crook and feel quite talkative about it, instead of just guessing and not particularly caring. The home town touch in New York would be bad, very bad. All that keeps peace in the subways now is the fact that the people who barge aboard, shove us around and walk all over us are total strangers, not recognizable neighbors.

"I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" has had a great comeback, and there is now a movie by that name. Which makes us wonder about Harold Orlob who we understand wrote the song as a youngster in Salt Lake City and sold it outright for $25, even waiving the use of his name.

Measuring

By TRUMAN TWILL

We keep reading in the papers about investigations of the building trades, to find out why it costs so much to build stuff, but we already know why. The investigators need look no further.

The trouble is measuring. Whenever human beings are turned loose with measuring implements, trouble starts. That's where costs begin to multiply. The man with the folding rule is at the bottom of the whole mess.

We have recently completed a job of amateur carpentering and are prepared to testify on complications that grow out of measuring. In our innocence, we presumed that the professional workmen who built the porch we were going to screen in knew how to measure and everything would be ship-shape.

Nothing could have been further from the fact. The porch had no perfect right angles on it anywhere. All the corners were casual. All the pillars were set a little this way or that way. The distance from the floor to the top varied as much as two inches. Nothing was square with the world.

One by one we ran into these end results of bad measuring a generation ago. Every illogical dimension we encountered led to some kind of an illogical dodge, to compensate for an error away back there in the Wilson administration. What is going to happen to the slap-happy sap who fools with that porch 25 years hence is a shame.

Every error entailed extra time and extra measuring—and every extra measure added to the ever-present risk of additional mistakes in measuring. These added up to a formidable total in the course of what came to be known as Operation Bonehead.

In money they reached a total of some $20 on a job for which the total material cost reached only $120. This, moreover, was relatively simple construction, where half an inch one way or the other wasn't important. Applying the same proportion to a job on which the material cost was $6,000, as much as a thousand might represent the consequences of error in measuring.

This column never engages in destructive criticism. We are full of million-dollar ideas to give away free, on the off chance they may add something to the sum total of human happiness. Our idea for eliminating unnecessary expense caused by the inevitable errors that ensue when human beings start monkeying with measurements is a set of telescoped measuring rods that can be set in any position with adjustable thumb screws.

These rods would be set at the proper places, then tagged with the name of what they represent. There would be no more fooling with feet and inches, no more messing with arithmetic, no more lapses of memory. Every carpenter will see the merit of this. It is our good deed for the day.

Mrs. Norman Thomas Dies

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN THOMAS

Mrs. Norman Thomas, wife of the Socialist party leader, died suddenly in New York City today, the Socialist party headquarters there announced.

A spokesman said the circumstances of her death were not immediately learned. Mr. Thomas, who had been attending a meeting of the party's national executive committee in Reading, Pa., was called home, The Associated Press reported.

Mrs. Thomas was the former Frances Violet Stewart, member of an old New York family. Her husband is a native of Marion, the son of a Presbyterian minister who served as pastor here for several years. She accompanied her husband here on several occasion, visiting his friends for a short time on some of Mr. Thomas' speaking tours. Acquaintances here described her as being interested in civic and cultural affairs, more especially welfare work. For a number of years she managed a tea room in New York.

Mrs. Thomas met her husband, who has been his party's unsuccessful presidential candidate five times, while both were engaged in settlement work. They were married Sept. 1, 1910.

Surviving with the husband are two sons and three daughters.

Newspaper Editors Revealed As Strong Lincoln Supporters

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—The recently opened White House papers of Abraham Lincoln reveal that newspapers and their editors played an important part in shaping the political career of the Civil war president.

The Robert Todd Lincoln collection contains more than 200 letters from outstanding editors and publishers, library of congress officials said today.

Among them are several letters from Horace Greeley, Joseph Medill, William Cullen Bryant, Henry J. Raymond, Alexander K. McClure, John Locke Scripps and others.

Joseph Medill, who became editor of the Chicago Tribune in 1854, was a close friend of Lincoln. Library officials said it was Medill who persuaded Carter of Ohio to change his vote at the Republican national convention in 1860. This started the landslide for Lincoln's nomination.

Early Republican

The library said Medill was an early advocate of giving the Republican party its present name. His letters in the collection are mostly marked "personal," "private" or "confidential" and are full of analysis of political trends.

One of the last tenders of advice received by Lincoln came in a long confidential letter from Medill on Jan 15, 1865. He advocated the appointment of ardent anti-slavery men to various political posts and said:

"Don't be in too much hurry for peace. Don't coax the rebel chiefs but pound them a little more. When they are sufficiently whipped they will gladly accept your terms and peace then made will be enduring."

Greeley Hot and Cold

Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, alternately opposed and supported Lincoln as he thought the president was following his program for immediate emancipation of the slaves, vigorour prosecution of the war, and no conciliation.

As early as 1858 he broke sharply with Medill over what he regarded as Lincoln's over-conciliatory attitude toward slavery. His letter on the subjject so concerned Lincoln that the made a copy of it which has been found among his papers.

"You have taken your own course—don't try to throw the blame on others," Greeley wrote. "You have repelled Douglas, who might have been conciliated, and attached to our side . . . ."

Sought Bennett's Support

Medill and other Republicans tried to win the support of James Gordon Bennett and his powerful New York Herald for Lincoln's candidacy in 1860.

In a letter to Lincoln written June 19, 1860, Medill said "u'll have a preliminary interview with his 'santanic majesty' (Bennett) . . . . and ascertain his state of mind . . . His affirmative help is not of great consequence but he is powerful for mischief . . . We think his terms will not be immoderate. He is too rich to want money. Social position we suspect is what he wants. He wants to be in a position to be invited with his wife and son to dinner or tea at the White House to to be 'made of' by the big men of the party."

At the beginning of the war, Bennett favored permitting the withdrawal of the southern states to avoid war but after the war began he supported the administration. In 1864, after some indecision he finally supported Lincoln in that campaign.

Elizabeth Seeks Fancy Penman To Write License

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 1—The archbishop of Canterbury was looking today for someone who can write fancily enough to inscribe Princess Elizabeth's marriage licenses.

Royal marraige licenses are usually inscribed by hand with a quill pen in old English block lettering, but the man who penned them for years is now dead and experts in the art of penmanship are hard to find.

The archbishop's office said it had not been decided whether the royal license would be on vellum or parchment. A spokesman said it might even be illuminated.

An announcement from Buckingham palace Thursday said the wedding ceremony would be held Nov. 20 in Westminster Abbey.

Record Wheat Goal Set Up

Government, Seeing 2 More Years of Grain Shortage, Calls for Top Output.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—Forecasting at least two more years of world grain shortages, the government today set a 1948 wheat planting goal topping any wartime or postwar target to date.

The agriculture department called upon farmers to seed at least 75,000,000 acres to the bread grain to permit this country to continue large shipments to shortage areas abroad at least until the fall harvests of 1948. The planting season for winter wheat is only a few weeks away.

Next year's goal compares with the 1947 target of 70,700,000 acres and with around 50,000,000 acres actually planted in the years immediately before the war, farmers, however, exceeded the 1947 goal by about 7,000,000 acres—a development which helped produce the largest wheat crop in the nation's history.

Postpone Pastureage Program

In boosting next year's objective over the acreage originally asked for this year, the government postponed, somewhat reluctantly, plans to urge farmers to retire much overworked wheat land to grass, pasture and other non-crop uses for the sake of soil conservation.

A few months ago, the government was preparing to announce a goal of 68,000,000 acres. But two factors—failure of the world food shortage to abate and prospects of a short crop this year—led officials to boost the figure by 7,000,000.

In announcing the new goal, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said that under "normal peacetime conditions" a much smaller acreage would be desirable.

"Because the need for exports to meet world shortages continues urgent, however," his statement added, "it appears desirable to maintain a high United States acreage in 1948."

Obviously aware of the possibility of a new drought and dust storms in the southwestern plains, Anderson said farmers in dry land areas "are especially cautioned against plowing up sod lands not suited for sustained farming, or planting wheat on land that should lie fallow."

The 75,000,000 acre wheat goal would produce 1,070,000,000 bushels at the 1937-46 average yield, 1,221,000,000 at the 1942-46 average, and 1,395,000,000 at this year's yield. This year's crop is indicated at 1,435,000,000 bushels.

MARION WOMAN HURT WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Mrs. Jane Thomas Taken to Hospital After Accident.

A Marion woman was injured, possibly seriously, shortly after 1:30 p. m. today when she was struck by a loaded gravel truck while crossing Main street just south of the Center street intersection.

The woman, Mrs. Jane Thomas of 477 South Main street, was taken to City hospital where the extent of her injuries were to be determined.

According to the report made to the police, the gravel truck, driven by James L. Allen of 466 Van Buren street, was proceeding west on East Center street. Allen made a left turn and as he completed the turn, struck Mrs. Thomas who was crossing Main street a few feet south of the crosswalk. Mrs. Thomas was crossing from east to west and apparently did not see the truck.

The impact of the truck threw Mrs. Thomas to the street and although the heavy truck did not come to a stop for about 40 feet from the point of impact, the wheels did not pass over her. The left headlight was broken by the impact.

Bleeding profusely Mrs. Thomas was assisted to her feet by several witnesses. Helped to the curb, she lost consciousness. The Boyd and Uncapher ambulance removed her to the hospital several minutes later. She still clasped in her hand the handle of a small glass pitcher dashed to pieces when she was hurled to the pavement.

Public Service Union Weighs Ousting Solon

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1—Rep. Homer E. Ramey declined comment today on a meeting of the executive board of Toledo Local 7, American Federation of State, County and Municipal union scheduled for Sunday to consider handing Ramey a withdrawal card.

The executive board meeting was ordered by Arnold S. Zander of Madison, Wis., international president. Zander said in letters to Earl Caton, district council 46 president, and Mrs. Deborah Johnson, local 7 secretary, that the action was based upon a provision of the international constitution which forbids membership of "elective officials."

Caton previously had demanded that Ramey be ousted from the union for "anti-labor" sentiment and activities.

Palace Recreation Set for Reopening

The remodeled Palace Recreation Center will open tonight at 7 for bowling.

Extensive improvements have been made since the alleys closed in June. A 55-foot bar, including a short order grill, has been installed and will open tonight. Robert Piefer, present chef at Bougher's Grill, has been in charge of setting up the grill. He and his wife will run it.

The pool and billiard tables have been taken out and dining tables installed in their place. The check room has been moved near to the head of the stairs and work on the backdrop at the end of the alleys has been completed.

League bowling will not start until September. The same policy toward hours for bowling and reserving weekends for open bowling during the fall and winter months, followed last season, will be in effect again this season, alley manager Jerry Stevenson said today.

how Ferguson can hold up my pay."

"We checked the appointment of Raschig as consultant," Sowers added and we have been assured that everything about it is legal."

Raschig took a desk in an anteroom outside the director's office.

Ferguson wrote Gov. Thomas J. Herbert declaring it never had been necessary for the state to have two public works directors and that he was protesting both as auditor and taxpayer.

"It has come to my attention that on on Aug. 1 you intend to make an appointment creating the new position of consultant to the director of public works," Ferguson wrote Herbert.

"If you persist in carrying out this program, I must advise you now that I will refuse to honor any warrants for Mr. Raschig's salary as consultant.

"If, in your opinion, Mr. Raschig is possessed of such great talent that you find it necessary to retain him in the public works department at $7,500 a year, I might suggest you keep him on as director.

"On the other hand, if Mr. Sowers (George B. Sowers, now public works director) is not competent to fill the position of director without a high-salaried consultant to help him, then it would be advisable to not burden the state of Ohio and the taxpayers with him."

DEWEY GOES HOME, SURE HE LEADS TAFT

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 1—Governor Thomas E. Dewey returned today from his western tour confident that he has built up a wide lead over Senator Robert A. Taft and all other potential rivals for the Republican presidential nomination.

The governor and his family arrived in Albany from Detroit, where last night he held the last of a series of political conferences that punctuated his four-week 6,500-mile "vacation" trip.

In the motor city he met six G.O.P. congressional leaders and had the final talks with two of Michigan's top Republicans—National Committeeman Arthur E. Summerfield and State Chairman John A. Wagner, both had declined invitations to the Taft "recognition" dinner in Columbus, O., last night because of Dewey's visit and for business reasons.

Colleagues of Dewey indicated the governor felt his trip had added measurable strength to his battle for delegate support at the 1948 national convention.

Both Dewey and his advisors reportedly believe the New Yorker holds a comfortable edge in the nomination fight over Taft, considered the governor's chief rival.

On his trip the governor received assurances from Republican leaders of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Utah, Nevada, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana and Nebraska that he was leading in their states, which have an aggregate convention delegate strength of 219 votes. Of these, Dewey's associates are counting on at least 200.

Advisors believed sentiment in Illinois, which has 56 votes, was not pro-Dewey, and Michigan's 41 votes appeared likely to go to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, the state's favorite son. However, G.O.P. leaders in Michigan believe Dewey ranks second in popularity there.

Without giving a breakdown, the Dewey forces believe they now can count on first ballot strength of approximately 400 of the 547 votes needed to nominate. The 400 presumably includes New York's 97 and others from New England and the eastern seaboard.

Privately they give Taft a maximum of 250 votes.

COLD

Vegas, Nev., the mercury reached 112 degrees.

Telephone and electric service was disrupted at Huntington, W. Va., by hail stones described as twice the size of walnuts.

Maine's Aroostook county potato crop took a beating from hail and wind; a half-hour "twister" that brought the hail yesterday lifted roofs from two houses and two barns, and littered the streets of Fort Kent, Canadian border town, with trees.

The New Orleans weather bureau warned of a tropical storm moving northwestward from a position about 90 miles east of Tampico, Mexico. It was expected to pass inland about noon, probably into northern Mexico.

Temperatures dipped to 32 above in Cadillac, Mich., in the early morning hours as a mass of cold air from Canada moved in over Lake Superior and centered in the northern part of the state. The cool air spread eastward to New England, south to the Ohio valley and west to Missouri.

NAMED AT TIFFIN

By The United Press

TIFFIN, Aug. 1 — Elmer T. Scheuermann, assistant to the executive secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, today was named as executive secretary of the Tiffin Chamber of Commerce. He will take charge Sept. 1, succeeding Naylor B. Biggs who resigned recently.

TAFT

cent session of congress was slow and left many things undone, the Ohio senator said:

"In one session, congress cannot possibly make over the world or even the United States. We must select the subjects of most immediate importance and leave the rest for further consideration. But considering everything, the list of important laws adopted has not been equalled by any congress. Subjects dealt with have been met 'head on' with courage and directness."

Taft asserted the "much vaunted talk of cooperation (with congress) on the President's side has come to nothing."

"Throughout this session," he said at another point, "it has become clear that the President is completely opposed to the principles of the Republican congress, representing the people of the United States. He has often talked in a conservative way, but in every crisis he has shown that he is still dominated by the principles of the CIO."

He continued:

"The President clearly believes in the New Deal doctrine of spending, spending, spending. He has shown not the slightest interest in one cent of economy. He believes in taxing, taxing, taxing, now and as far ahead as we can see.

Blasts Health Plan

"He insists upon a health plan which will socialize our entire medical profession and make every doctor an employe of the federal government. He has favored every step toward centralization of power in federal bureau, or in federal valley authorities, as against the power of independent states, cities and schools. He has appointed to office those who believe in control by government. He has violently opposed every effort to bring about labor reform."

Earlier, Taft was endorsed unanimously for the presidential nomination by the Republican state committee and the G.O.P. delegation in congress. He promised a definite reply to the committee early in October when he returns from his western tour.

He said he wanted first to "sound out public sentiment throughout the country to determine whether there is a good probability of my nomination and election."

Senator John Bricker, who came out for Taft Wednesday, introduced him last night and commended him to Ohio Republicans "and to my fellow countrymen."

Like Taft, Bricker also left today for a Canadian vacation.

BRITISH FOOD RATION EXPECTED TO BE CUT

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 1—Immediate large-scale cuts in Britain's meager food rations were forecast today as cabinet ministers studied plans to combat the nation's economic crisis.

A well informed source close to the government said Prime Minister Attlee would disclose the details in announcing his crisis program in the house of commons next Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Daily Express and Daily Telegraph, persistent critics of the Labor regime, said the cuts would be between 25 and 50 per cent in some foods already rationed more thinly than in wartime.

The newspapers foresaw deep cuts in meat, butter, grain and tinned foods, especially fruit and vegetables. The source confirmed that sharp reductions were coming, but declined details.

Christianity's Language Called Stumbling Block

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 1—The president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America believes Christianity fails to attract many followers because its "teachings are too often phrased in the language of Shakespeare and incased in theological concepts of Augustine's time."

Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer, declared last night at the international convention of the Disciples of Christ that Christianity should gear its attempts to win new converts to the economics of a modern world.

"This is now an insecure world," he declared, "and to give it Christian security, you have to understand its people • • •"

British Camp Hit by Attack

Terrorists Lose One Killed in Grenade, Mortar Assault on Troops.

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Aug. 1 — Headquarters of the British Hampshire regiment in Jerusalem was attacked with grenades and mortars today and one attacker was killed.

No announcement was made concerning military casualties, if any.

The attack came as British soldiers and Palestine police launched twin investigations of shootings last night in the all-Jewish metropolis of Tel Aviv in which five Jews were killed and a score of others injured.

The shootings were a sequel to the hanging of two British soldiers by the Jewish underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi.

Grenade Clutched in Hand

The dead terrorist lay in the street before the building with a grenade clutched in his hand.

Two other suspected attackers were captured alive. Military sources said there were at least four mortar and grenade explosions. It was believed the mortar was hidden in a building nearby. A general alarm was sounded bringing British troops to action stations through the tense city.

A reliable informant said the shootings in the Tel Aviv last night were the work of soldiers in armored cars who evidently were intent upon avenging the hanging of 20-year-old Sgts. Clifford Martin and Mervyn Paice.

Funerals Held

The sergeant's funerals, with several high military and civil officials attending, were today in Ramle military cemetery. A booby trap mutilated the men's bodies as they were being removed yesterday from two eucalyptus trees north of Tel Aviv near Natanya.

The Tel Aviv informant said at least eight armored cars opened fire in the city last night. The shooting was said to have lasted several hours.

The informant said soldiers fired on two buses, killing two women, two men and a young boy and wounding other Jews, and smashed store windows all along one street, causing property damage of $100,000. The outbreak followed reports of the clubbing and stoning of several Jews by five Britons riding in a jeep.

DUTCH ACCEPT U.S. MEDIATION OFFER

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 1—Russia charged today that a United States offer to mediate the undeclared war in Indonesia was a "means of circumventing the United Nations and demanded that the security council itself take "binding" action. The surprise Soviet move seriously complicated the mediation plan, which already had been accepted by the Netherlands government.

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 1—Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, Netherlands ambassador to Washington, told the United Nation security council today his government had accepted a United States offer to mediate the undeclared war in Indonesia.

He said he had been authorized by The Hague to say that The Netherlands "gladly accepts" the mediation offer and that his government is ready to enter into consultations with U. S. officials immediately.

His announcement came as a surprise.

As the council met to resume debate on Australian and Indian complaints in the Indonesian question, Van Kleffens had told a reporter The Netherlands government had not yet received a formal mediation offer.

end to reduce taxes if state finances permitted.

State Republican Chairman Fred H. Johnson of Zanesville presided as toastmaster. He noted that some 80 Washington and Ohio political writers, radio and newspaper editors and cameramen were registered for the meet.

Singles Out Leaders

Johnson singled out for special attention Congressman-at-large George H. Bender of Cleveland, National Committeewoman Katherine Kennedy Brown of Dayton, state officials, county chairmen.

Bernard W. Levander, Minnesota Republican state chairman, also was presented. He was here as an observer for Harold E. Stassen, former governor of that state and currently the only announced presidential aspirant.

Mrs. Brown in a preliminary talk said Taft had won American women by his "courage, freedom from double-talk, honesty, perseverance, and love of peace."

"Taft in the White House," she said, "will be the servant of the people with no desire to be their master."

Herbert pointed out that Ohio was debt-free and without new or increased taxes, although they were imposed this year in 21 states and boosted in 24.

Cites Liquor Investigation

He cited a current investigation by the attorney general into overstocking of the liquor department with slow-moving brands and asserted: "This time we are really going to clean up the liquor department."

Reviewing accomplishments of the legislature, he included:

Strip mining control, the state's first.

Expanded welfare activities, including acquisition of Cambridge state hospital and $37,500,000 additional for old age assistance, aid to dependent and crippled children, the blind and poor relief.

Reorganization of the agriculture department and $150,000 additional for control of Bangs disease and research.

Enactment of the Ferguson law to ban strikes by public employes.

Salary boosts for state employes and elective officials, raising total increases to about 33 1/3 per cent.

"I believe the 97th general assembly," Herbert said, "has reflected the will of the people and that the Republican party may, with justifiable pride stand on the record.

"Necessarily the legislative program has been our primary concern to date.

"Now we shall concentrate on the administrative phase with the firm resolve that through continued teamwork and conscientious public service we shall sustain the confidence placed in the Republican party by the people last November."

2 OHIO CHILDREN DROWN

By Brush-Moore State Service

EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 1—A brother and sister were drowned Thursday night in a deep pool of a small creek in the west end which Columbiana County Coroner Ernest Sturgis said has claimed at least half a dozen youngsters in the last 25 years. The victims were Franklin Winston Bailey, 8, and Lea Ruth Bailey, 9, children of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bailey of Jethro Hollow, who reside on a steep hillside overlooking the creek.

WHEAT PRICE MOVES UP AGAIN IN COUNTY

Back to $2.20 as Harvest Nears Completion.

Farmers are getting $2.20 again for their wheat at Marion elevators as the grain market shows evidence of returning to normal after a nine-cent drop in the price paid for winter wheat here.

Quoted at $2.22 Saturday and $2.20 Monday, the wheat price dipped sharply to $2.11 on Tuesday. On Wednesday it was quoted at $2.16 and continued to come back yesterday with a four-cent rise to $2.20.

The drop earlier in the week is thought to be the result of the harvest peak reaching the market at that time, representatives of grain concerns here report. The drop locally followed that in the Chicago market.

Both the Marion Grain and Supply and the Marion Milling Co. report a steady flow of wheat this week as the harvest in Marion county nears completion. Provided continued good weather prevails over the week-end the bulk of the winter wheat should have reached the market by the forepart of next week, local dealers said.

Figures are not yet available on the average yield per acre this year and a wide range over the county has been indicted in reported yields of anywhere from 16 to 30 bushels agricultural association representatives were not expecting a "bumper crop," Marion county should top last year's output, it was said, as 27,400 acres were planted to wheat, a 15 per cent increase over last year's acreage.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat
It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Swallowing Accident

Indigestible objects such as pins or coins are frequently swallowed accidentally. Sometimes in military life the swallowing of such things is deliberate on the part of those who wish to be relieved of some unpleasant duty.

Dr. Geoffrey St. J. Hallett, of England, in making a study of a number of these cases, discovered that a surprising assortment of such objects will pass through the stomach and bowel without doing any damage. These include such things as nails, pieces of glass, spoon handles, pieces of wire, brass knuckles, broken razor-blades, and even needles.

It may require from 48 hours to 12 days for each object to pass through the intestines.

In only one instance among 19 patients who had swallowed such objects, did an object perforate or stick through the bowel. To prevent such perforations, it may be helpful in some cases to give mineral oil, but laxatives should not be employed, since these cause movement of the intestine which might tend to bring on a perforation.

From his study, Dr. Hallett concluded that it is advisable to remove objects by means of operation if the objects remain in the same place in the bowel for from seven to eight days. The same is true if the objects are retained in the stomach.

Sometimes it may be helpful, if the object is retained in the stomach, to give an injection of morphine and hyoscine. This tends to relax the muscle between the stomach and bowel and to allow the object to pass into the intestine.

So long as the object continues to move through the intestine, even slowly, there is no need to have an operation performed. Of course, repeated X-ray examination is necessary to show where the object is located and whether or not it is moving through the intestines.

A sharp, pointed needle or a similar object which is unlikely to pass through the intestine without causing difficulty, is better removed from the stomach by surgery, soon after it has been swallowed. Operation must be carried out immediately if perforation of the bowel or stomach occurs.

Thus, if some object is swallowed, it is advisable for the patient to use a normal diet and to have X-rays taken every two or three days to determine just what is occurring. Then a physician can decide whether or not operation for the removal of the object is necessary.

SEE FORMATION OF RURAL BLOC

7 Small Ohio Towns Meet To Organize Fight Against Assembly Change.

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, Aug. 1—Formation of a rural bloc of western counties to combat the drive undertaken by Ohio's bigger cities for greater voice in the Ohio legislature was practically assured today.

Representatives of rural counties met in Greenville Wednesday to hear State Rep. Guy D. Hawley (R-Darke) explain the so-called "Darke county plan" to organize the smaller counties to maintain the present legislative status quo, which favors the rural areas in the house of representatives.

Present were delegates from Eaton, Versailles, Piqua, Troy, St Marys, Van Wert, Sidney and Celina. No opposition was expressed to Hawley's plan to organize.

Committee Set Up

A temporary committee was set up to sound out sentiment in the delegates' local communities and report back individually sometime in the coming month. After all reports are in, Gaynor O'Brien, Greenville mill operator and chairman of the temporary committee, will call a general meeting to organize formally.

Committee members were instructed to "test the sentiment in your representative cities and counties as to banding together as a western Ohio group." However, Hawley indicated that the organization might be expanded to a state-wide association of rural areas.

To Fight Association

The Darke county plan evolved from a meeting two weeks ago in which leaders of that county agreed that organized opposition was necessary to defeat the purposes of the recently-formed Ohio Association of Cities. The latter was organized by the seven largest cities of the state after the end of the last legislative session.

The purpose of the organization is to obtain for the municipalities larger shares of state revenues for the generally hard-up cities, even proposing to change the districting of the state to assure more state representatives from urban centers.

Hawley explained to the Greenville meeting that such a move would necessarily react to the detriment of rural areas in the distribution of sales tax funds, school foundation payments, and other state subsidies.

RASMUSSEN HOMERS CUBS INTO 5 - 4 WIN

Rosin and Edington Team Up On Pitching To Stop Richmond

By DON C. BURTON

It was Wally Rasmussen night at Lincoln park last night. The speedy Marion outfielder homered with two aboard in the sixth and tripled for another run in the first to give the Cubs a 5-4 victory over the Richmond Roses. A total of 1,276 saw the game, marred by only one error.

Vince Pankovits, Richmond catcher, also hit for the circuit with two on to account for three of the visitors' total.

The Roses outhit the Cubs 12 to 6 but left nine men on base while only four of the home team were left stranded.

Rosin Gets Win

Bill Rosin got credit for the Marion win, but needed help in the eighth. John Edington did the fireman service when he came in with the bases full and one out in the eighth. John had what it took and forced pinch-hitter Roberts to hit into a double play, Hollingshead to Burbrink to Forbes. Edington allowed a hit in the ninth but got through unscored on to save the day.

Duane Markley started for Richmond and lost his eighth straight game although hurling excellent ball until the fatal Marion sixth. After Wally Rasmussen hit him for a triple with John Smith aboard in the opening round, the young Indiana High school boy retired 12 of the Cubs in order. Smith was on base following a force out by Roy Hollingshead who had walked to start the game for Marion.

The Roses tied the count in the second. Johnson singled past first and took second when Bob Shuford fumbled the ball. Markley aided his own cause with a single to plate Johnson with an unearned run off Rosin.

The Roses took a lead in the fifth when Vince Pankovits homered far over the left field wall. Craig and Pottenger had opened the inning with singles. Verrier forced Craig at third on an attempted sacrifice but both Pottenger and Verrier scored ahead of Pankovits.

The Cubs won the game in the sixth with four runs. Bill Rosin started with a double down the third base line and moved to third on a single by Hollingshead. Smith sent Rosin home with a single and then Rasmussen hit down the first base line and the took a high bounce over the head of Brady in right. The ball rolled deep into the right field corner, and the speedy Rasmussen made the entire trip around the bases behind Hollingshead and Smith.

The two teams are booked again tonight with Ken St. Pierre scheduled to take the hill for Richmond and Bert Flamini for Marion which will be a battle of southpaws.

St. Pierre has a record of 11 wins and four defeats. He was on the All-Star team and pitched in the game at Zanesville Tuesday night. Flamini has won five games without a loss.

Tribe Takes 3rd Straight From Boston

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 — Unbeaten in their last four starts, including three straight victories over the fading Boston Red Sox, the Cleveland Indians today were to open a four-game setto with the whirlwind New York Yanks.

Gordon

Mel Harder gets the mound call for the torrid Tribesmen, opposing Floyd Bevens.

The unpredictable Indians completed their sweep of the Boston series yesterday, unloading a pair of timely home runs to edge the Sockers, 5-4.

Lou Boudreau hoisted his fourth circuit clout of the season in the first inning, scoring Dale Mitchell ahead of him. Joe Gordon cracked his 18th home run in the sixth with Eddie Robinson and Hank Edwards aboard.

Getting his first starting assignment of the year, Bob Lemon pitched shutout ball for five innings, but had to receive help from Ed Klieman in the sixth when the Red Sox rallied.

Boudreau

Ted Williams' triple was the big blow in that frame when Boston tallied three times. The Red Sox added another run in the eighth before Klieman applied the brakes.

Al Lopez, appearing in his 1,899th major league game, sparked the Indians' attack with three singles.

What's Bruin?

The Cubs had a great defense against the sacrifice in the game last night. On three occasions the locals deefated the attempt to move runners up a base.

With two on and none out in the fifth, Manager Burbrink pounced on a decent bunt by Bob Verrier and threw the front runner out at third. In the sixth round the Roses again tried to play a man on first and none down. This time John Smith came in fast to take a good bunt from the bat of Duan Markley and turn it into a double play by way of second base.

The third attempt by the Roses came with two on in the eighth. This time Bill Rosin took the tap in front of the plate and nabbed the runner at third.

* * *

Both pitchers had the power hitters on both teams stopped. Neither Burbrink nor Dwigot Maxhimer could touch Markley for a safety.

Bill Rosin and John Edington also silenced the big bat of Bob Verrier, All-Star third baseman. Rosin twice got the league's second ranking batter on strikes.

Jack Cooney, now playing the keystone for the visitors, is the son of tthe former Boston outfielder, Johnny Cooney. The elder Cooney was a pitcher in his early days and came up to the Boston Braves in 1921. He hurled for several years and then went back to the minors and became an outfielder. He developed into one of the best and was considered next to Terry Moore for years in patroling center field. He threw left handed and batted right. The young son does the opposite batting and throwing right.

The father is now a coach with the Braves. He ended his career in 1943 with Boston and Brooklyn.

In the game last night young Cooney handled 12 chances without a miscue. He got one hit in five trips to the plate. In the game Tuesday night the youngster from Sarasota, Fla. got three for five.

Gorden Hessell Wins Armory Wrestling Bout

Gorden Hessell won the maingo at the Armory last night in straight falls over Billy Fox. He took the first in 17 minutes with a hammerlock and the second in 10 on a rebound off the ropes and body press.

Eddie Williams and Pavo Ketonen each got one fall in the semi-final which ended a draw.

Larry Barlow and Wayne Barlow grapped to a draw in the 10 minute prelim.

Bums-Yank Subway Series Seems To Be in the Cards

By The Associated Press

A subway World Series, founded on two dazzling western trips by the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, appeared likely as the clubs headed into August, normally the head of the stretch in the baseball pennant races.

Thirteen straight victories by the under-rated Brooks have given Manager Burt Shotten's men a commanding 10-game lead over the New York Giants and defending St. Louis Cardinals.

The Yankees have opened up 12-game margin on the defending Boston Red Sox.

Brook's Feat Exceptional

Brooklyn's feat has been more exceptional than the Yanks' because the Dodgers were not supposed to be in the class with the Cardnals.

REESE

In sweeping three straight from St. Louis at Sportsman park, the third by a 2-1 margin yesterday, the Dodgers left the champs hanging on the ropes.

St. Louis has 50 games to play as compared to 55 for the Dodgers but their overwhelming advantage in home games now has largely disappeared and they must fight it out on even ground against that staggering 10-game deficit.

Howie Pollet Fails

Even Howie Pollet, the old Dodger-tamer, failed Manager Eddie Dyer although he pitched a smart game, normally good enough to win. They were tied at 1-1 going in to the ninth when Pee Wee Reese tripled down the right field foul line to score Bruce Edwards with the winning run.

The New York Giants also helped the Dodgers build up their lead by bowing to Cincinnati, 8-7. The defeat left the Giants 10 full games back of the Brooks. Grady Hatton's three-run homer in the eighth turned the tide after earlier clouts by Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper. It was no 31 for Mize.

Phillies Win

Dutch Leonard, whose American league release appears to have been an embarrassing mistake, posted his 12th victory for Ben Chapman's Phillies, 3-0 five-hit shutout over the Chicago Cubs.

MIZE

Rain washed out the Boston at Pittsburgh game and "threatening weather" postponed the Detroit at New York game although the sun shone most of the afternoon on the Yankee stadium.

Cleveland swept its three-game set from the Boston Red Sox, 5-4, on a pair of homers by Manager Lou Boudreau and Joe Gordon.

Bob Savage stilled a last-inning spurt by Chicago to save Philadelphia's Bill Dietrich his fourth victory over Ed Lopat, 3-2.

Mickey Haefner continued his efficient pitching, scattering five St. Louis hits for a 4-1 Washington triumph.

Congressional "Streamlining" Called 50 Per Cent Effective

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
(For James Marlow)
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—Rep. Monroney (D-Okla), author of the legislative reorganization law, estimated today that it has been about 50 per cent effective in "streamlining" congress.

The session just ended was the first to operate under the act.

Terming the law about half successful and half "flop," Monroney added to a reporter:

"Now we've either got to carry it out fully or abandon and repeal it."

The Oklahoman said the most conspicuous effort to use it was in setting a legislative budget.

Budget "Complete Flop"

"That was completely a flop," he continued. 'Not the idea, but the way it was used."

The law says congress must work out its own program for appropriations and spending, in the light of prospective government income and presidential recommendations.

This is to be done by a special committee made up of senators and representatives from the appropriating and taxing committees of both branches.

What happened last session was that congress got a $37,500,000,000 budget from President Truman and never agreed on one of its own. The house voted to trim $6,000,000,000 from the presidential total, the senate $4,500,000,000. They never compromised. And Republicans and Democrats are still arguing about just how much the budget was cut.

To make the plan work, Monroney said, congress should have experts working with government agencies during the summer and fall as they work out their budgets for the coming year.

Then, when the house appropriations committee is ready to start operating, and the legislative budget committee meets, the experts could have ready-made plans for large, medium or small cuts.

But Monroney said he sees little chance this will be done.

Despite all the talk of too many subcommittees, Monroney said, the biggest success of the reorganization law has been in the direction of committee consolidation.

Compared with 1945, he said the number of all congressional committees—joint, regular, special and subcommittees—is 32 lower. And he predicted that many of the subcommittees set up this year will wither away as it is found they have little to do.

"We couldn't get rid of all the extraneous growth with one cut of the scythe," he said. "But we did remove a lot of overlapping and duplication."

Monroney classed as an outright disregard of the law a decision of the house appropriations committee against public hearings on money bills. These hearings were held behind closed doors as in the past and the testimony made public when each appropriation bill was handed to the house.

The law also says that every house member "shall" be elected to one committee.

But Monroney noted that four members — Speaker Martin (R-Mass), Republican Leader Halleck (Ind), Democratic Leader Rayburn (Texas) and Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY)—were not elected to membership on any committee. Monroney says the three leaders probably should have been exempted in the law.

As for Marcontonio, the only member of a minor party in congress, both Republicans and Democrats declined responsibility for giving him a committee assignment. Each side said the other should do it. Neither did.

Juvenile Delinquency Student Voices Defense for Parents

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Writer

Clara Savage Littledale, student of parents' problems for more than 20 years, thinks too much blame for juvenile delinquency is being heaped on parents.

"It's about time somebody sympathized with the poor parents," said Mrs Littledale, a parent herself, as she sat in her modern New York office where she works as editor of Parents Magazine

"Most parents try awfully hard They are more conscious of their responsibility than ever before Thousands are enrolled in parent study groups. The last thing you should do is to rub into them their mistakes Parents are getting so jittery and anxious they don't know what to do next. They need help"

Mrs Littledale believes the main cause of the difficulty which many parents are having in bringing up children is plain lack of knowledge of children and what it is fair to expect of them.

"Parents get upset because a two-year-old dawdles or is disobedient They don't realize it takes a long time before children have a sense of time Mothers are disturbed because a three-year-old tells lies, but it is not so very serious The whole world looks strange to a three-year-old and he sometimes mixes fiction with fact

"If a child of eight or ten lies, however, it is serious. Fathers worry if their little boys are not good sports. They don't realize a four or a six-year-old can't be a good loser yet

"Because a parent doesn't know what to expect, he sometimes makes the child feel he is a failure

CLARA LITTLEDALE
"Tell the children you love them"

—can't do all the things he is expected to do"

As further causes of the twentieth century parent's difficulty in rearing his offspring, Mrs Littledale cites (1) the strain of the war and postwar periods on parents and (2) parents failure to tell their children often enough that they love them

"We assume that we reveal it in our care of them," she said, "but they need to be told Children, like adults, need love"

Mrs Littledale—small, gentle-mannered and silver-haired has a married daughter and a son in college She is a former New York newspaper reporter and woman's page editor. After her marriage to Harold A. Littledale and motherhood, she assumed editorship of Parents Magazine, then a young struggling publication Today it claims circulation of more than a million

Mrs Littledale gives these three suggestions as possible helps to puzzled parents

1. Go on studying parenthood in study groups and in material made available by the Children's Bureau of the U. S Dept. of Labor and elsewhere

2. Put the children's good ahead of a spick and span house

3 See that the children have some fun with their father

Decline of Britain Brings Home Loneliness of U. S. Position

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's drastic decision to reduce its global military commitments, in a further effort to overcome the economic crisis gripping the country, is a potent reminder that the United States is the last of the great democratic powers still capable of fully manning a war-machine—and that this can be a might lonesome world.

Makes me think of the time in World War I when I was plodding across a field in Flanders to reach the front line and got caught in the middle of a terrific German barrage. It wasn't exactly lonesome, but I had a yearning for the company of someone who knew barrages and would have a sympathetic understanding

Dewitt Mackenzie

Which is by way of saying that, after all, England has been America's staunch ally in two world conflicts, and remains the chief prop of western Europe for the defense of democracy It's tough to see her striking-power reduced even temporarily in these explosive days

One of Attlee Promises

This reduction of military commitments was one of the concessions Prime Minister Attlee promised the Labor members of parliament, meeting in secret caucus Wednesday to listen with critical attention to an accounting of his stewardship He has been under heavy fire, not only from his Conservative opposition but from many of his own followers because of dissatisfaction with the government's progress in dealing with the economic upheaval

The prime minister defended his position with determination. The result was that he won a virtual vote of confidence from the caucus.

The prime minister is reported not only to have promised to cut down military commitments in Greece, Italy and Germany but to reduce the number of men under arms and send them back into the ranks of labor to meet the demand for workers. Thus he got over one of the high hurdles

But that wasn't his only promise It is said that he will call on Britain's coal miners to work an extra hour daily in order to get the production which is so badly needed to stimulate badly lagging industry Lack of coal is the crux of the economic crisis It is suggested that the miners get time and a half pay for this overtime

Advocates of this plan say it would increase the coal output some 300,000 tons a week, to swell the present production of 2,700,000 tons. The government's target for the year is 200,000,000 tons.

The vote of confidence means that the question of Attlee resigning the prime ministership doesn't arise, at least pending developments. There had been a demand in some quarters that he give way to other leadership, and Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin was mentioned as possible successor

However, a high government source says that Attlee may make changes in his cabinet soon. In this connection the political correspondent of the London Daily Mail said yesterday, prior to the caucus that the only concession the prime minister was prepared to make would be the formation of a sort of emergency battle squad of five senior ministers to tackle the economic problems The big five would be Attlee himself Foreign Minister Bevin, Chancellor of the Exchequer Dalton, Deputy Prime Minister Morrison and President of the Board of Trade Sir Stafford Cripps

So Mr. Attlee's government would seem to have weathered a nasty hurricane The storm signals aren't down yet, though and won't be until there is marked improvement in the economic situation—a matter of concern not only to the people of Britain but to the world at large—especially America

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a mild ailment, especially when not giving any pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties. Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

MARKET RECOVERY SHIFT CONTINUES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—The shift toward recovery continued selectively in today's stock market although selling revived sufficiently to put many leaders on the losing end.

Volume was relatively light from the start but was aided by sizable blocks of low-quoted stocks.

Occasional upward movers were Chrysler, Goodrich, Goodyear, Woolworth, International Harvester, Deere, Grumman Aircraft, American Telephone, Public Service of N. J., American Smelting, Du Pont, Union Carbide, U. S. Gypsum, Johns-Manville, Chesapeake and Ohio, Texas Co., and J. C. Penney.

Pfizer and Lambert issues retreated following summaries revealing income drops. Intermittent stumblers were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, General Electric, Publicker, Standard Oil (NJ), Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Southern Railway.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I THINK Katharine was as much relieved as I at Mary's question concerning breakfast.

The girl had been so caught up in joyous emotions, first at the release from fear which had been hers when her aunt, Harriet Braithwaite, had assured her that her mother's quirks of mentality came from an injury at Roderick's birth and not from inherited insanity, and, second, by her joyous reunion with her husband, Noel, that I knew Katharine shared my fear of her overdoing.

But her eyes were clear, the flush on her cheeks was a healthy one, not that of fever, and her whole lithe body seemed on steel springs. The fact that she was patently hungry was more encouraging than anything else.

"Yes, Brat, omelet is hovering in the air," Dicky told her. "Won't you sit down while we discuss it?"

"I don't mind if I do," she retorted saucily, sinking into the nearest chair while Noel hovered over her as if she were a delicate baby on her first outing.

"This doesn't mean we're going to eat breakfast with you though," she went on. "We don't want to seem snooty, but we are counting on having this breakfast all by ourselves."

"You'd have to put in a reservation if you did join us," Dicky told her loftily. "We have a most select clientele, and our tables are reserved months in advance. We will permit you, however, in view of your recent illness, to have the same viands which are going to be served to our regular cash customers.

The Menu

"Permit me to recount the menu," he went on, as Mary giggled. "Fruit juice, which you may choose; fluffy omelet with broiled bacon, little pancakes with genuine maple syrup, and coffee."

"Oh, joy! Oh, rapture!" Mary chanted. "Do you hear that, Noel? How long before it gets here?"

"I haven't had a chance to order it yet," I said. "I'll put the order in right now, and since we're all having the same main dish, they'll be able to hurry things up, I'm sure."

I went to the telephone, put in the order, made a plea for special haste and received the assurance that the order would be up in twenty minutes. I relayed that information, and was rewarded by a look of relief on Mary's face.

"I never could wait an hour," she declared, and Katharine's eyes and mine met in quiet satisfaction. If Mary were hungry, most of her battle was over.

Suddenly Wary

"Suppose we sit out here, Noel, for a little," she said, and something in her voice made me suddenly wary. There was a purposefulness in it which spelled the old imperious Mary, not the frightened creature with whom Katharine and I had just been dealing.

"We will permit you to do that," Dicky said loftily, "provided you conform to our standards of behavior."

Mary giggled again.

"You mean if we will consent to lower ours, you mean," she said saucily, and as Dicky thundered: "Brat! Beware!" at her, she turned to Katharine.

"There are three things I want to get settled," she said, "and I imagine now is as good a time as any."

Inwardly I braced myself to meet whatever she meant to bring up, and knew that Katharine was also ready for action.

"You have all of our ears," I told her, smiling.

"You'll need them," she retorted with a gamin grin. But I saw that there was resolution behind her smile.

"First," she said, "when can I go down to our own apartment again and begin keeping house for my darling husband?"

"As I told you before," Katharine said evenly, "that is out of my province. It is entirely up to Dr. Twichell. But I am willing to step out of my subordinate role enough to predict that if you keep up your present rate of improvement, you will not have to wait very long for your release."

"I'll have to do with that until the old doc comes back, I suppose," she said. "Now, second, when can I begin real honest-to-goodness study with Auntie Madge?"

"I can give you only the same answer as before," Katharine said steadily. "Ask Dr. Twitchell tonight, although you may study quite a little today if you don't get tired."

"I won't get tired," she said confidently. "Now the third thing is this: When are those blasted bars coming off? Surely you don't need them now."

Americans Smoked More, Drank Less, Last Year

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, July 31—Americans smoked more but drank less in the year ended June 30 than in the preceding year, according to internal revenue bureau collections.

The bureau took in $1,238,000,000 in tobacco taxes during the 1947 fiscal year, $72,249,000 more than in fiscal 1946. But liquor tax collections totaled only $2,475,000,000, $51,401,000 below the previous year.

Total federal income from all taxes amounted to $39,168,000,000 for the 1947 fiscal year. That compares with $40,672,000,000 in fiscal 1946.
